

Europal – Packaging Development Engineer

Packaging Development Engineer

The Packaging Development Engineer creatively builds on Europal's strengths to develop better packaging solutions that make a real difference. By standardizing or optimizing designs, workflows and processes, you help create a high-performance organization.

Responsibilities:

Development, design and innovation:

- Thinking analytically and creatively about customer requests
- Creating technical plans and designs
- Preparing drawings for the plotter and testing plotted models
- Managing cost estimations for HPA and ECA tooling
- Following up on potential production tests
- Designing ECA and HPA projects and assessing their technical and qualitative feasibility
- Providing product information to the sales team and answering their technical questions

Efficient production preparation:

- Designing eco printing
- Preparing plans for production
- Contributing to the optimization of procedures
- Contributing ideas on how to further implement AI within the R&D department

Problem handling and solving:

- Handling specific customer requests within R&D
- Respecting ISO procedures

Why are you our new Power Player?

You hold a master's degree in engineering, preferably in product development — other specializations or equivalent experience are also welcome

- Experience is not required; we value an analytical mindset above all
- Innovative and mathematical thinking comes naturally to you
- You approach customer questions creatively and critically
- You work smoothly with different departments: sales, production, and customer support
- You can set priorities, even in busy periods
- You always put the customer first in everything you do
- You are comfortable communicating in French

What's in it for you?

- A challenging job with growth opportunities tailored to your personal ambitions
- A modern and international work environment with plenty of contacts
- A no-nonsense company culture where family entrepreneurship and customer focus are key
- An HR policy strongly focused on positive team spirit and continuous learning through the Europal Academy
- A solid business group with a long-term vision and ambitious growth plans

- Europal Packaging offers you an attractive salary package, including extra-legal benefits
